Barbara,

Thanks. Please give me a heads up on both issues when you get told to move forward or not.

Thanks

Felix

A letter will be coming from Jill when we hear that we are allowed to send it. As for Raritan, we finally got the peer review panel satisfied, so we are cleaning up the last details before we brief management and get permission to proceed with it (the next step would be a stakeholder meeting). Based on the date now, I don't see it getting to you in time to approve this year, assuming we get the green light to proceed.

Barbara,

I here you have been given the green light to share you comments with us on HydroQual pathogen technical support document.

It would be good to get this behind us.

Any word on Raritan, any chance it will be established in time for an EPA approval in FY'12?
